Monday, January 6, 1873. BIRTH. On Sunday the 5th inst., at 6:30 a.m., at his reside Fictoria Arm, the wife of Mr. J. J. Austin, of a son.

The Mainland-Lower Fraser. By the Enterprise, which arrived at 9:30, yesterday morning, we have New Westmiuster papers of the 1st and 4th, from which we gather a few extracts:

The City Council of New Westminster has held its last meeting ; the new Municipality Act will take effect in a few weeks. The Returning Officer announces the election of City Councillors to be held on the 14 h.

A meeting of the committee of the New Westminster Branch Bible Society was held on the 3rd. The following gentlemen were present: Kevs. Messrs. Owen, Russ, and Jameson, Hon. Mr. Armstrong, and Messrs Major, Homer and Brown. The Hon. W. J. Armstrong, President of the society, occupied the chair. Letters were read by the Secretary from the directors of the British and Foreign, and the Upper Canada Bible The former cheerfully acceded to the request of this branch to cancel the debt on the stock now on band, amounting to about $32. The latter acknowledged report of reorganization of this society as a branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, and says the intelligence it conveyed was received with cordial satisfaction : and we have added to our list of branches that of New Westminster, B.C., which brings our number up to four hundred and sixteen." The report of a sub-committee appointed to take an inven-tory was given in, when it was found the total value amounted to $463, and the number of volumes was 793, in sixteen different languages. The annual festival of the New Westminster Sunday School, in connection with the Wesleyan Church, was held on the evening of January 30th. Tea, cake, music, devo. tional exercises, etc., were in order. Mr. J. Cunningham is the superintendent; Mrs. Cunningham presided at the harmonium.

A school meeting was announced for the 4th, at Mr. Jackson's, South Arm, at which the building of a public school would be discussed. A petition has been sent to the Legislature, praying that the settlement be given a road, to connect it with New Westmin-

The " Myacks " have their annual ball on the 17th. At the recent election of officers, Mr. W. Johnston was elected Captain, vice Mr. W. Fisher, who declined re election. The latter was presented with an address, culogising his past services to that department. The new Court House for New Westminster, is being rapidly pushed forward; the siding is all up, and a large portion of the rustic is affixed; the foundation is all en-

An inquest was held on the remains of an Indian, suddenly deceased in New Westmin-ster jail. Death from natural causes was the verdict.

The members of New Westminster Lodge 1.O.O.F. have been duly installed. Wheat is to be extensively sown this year in the lower Fraser settlements.

VICTORIA, Jan. 4th. 1873. EDITOR STANDARD :- In reference to your to furnish you with the text of that document, should you be desirous of publishing it to enable gentlemen to whom it may be interesting and who might not otherwise be able so readily to obtain a copy to possess themselves

It scarcely deserves the name of "New Tactics" yet it is valuable as indicating the progress, incident to the scope of the F. E. 1870, of increased responsibility and exeroise of discretion, on the part of commanders of comparatively small bodies, a responsibility which descends in sequence down to section leaders in skirmishing order.

THE NEW TACTICS.

The following Memorandum on the conduct of the attack of a division in the new formation has been issued at A dershot :-1. The attack will usually commence with general advance. When the skirmishers at any point are unable to continue their advance hey will be either relieved or reintorced by the supports. When the configuration of the ground permits, the supports may fire volleys over the heads of the skirmishers.

2 If both the skirmishers and supports tog ther are unable to make any way, they will take up the best position they can from which to keep up a continuous fire on the enemy, and the line, either in the whole of

in part, will be brought into action.

3 If there appears any likelihood of forcing of the skirmishers it will open fire-advanceing, as opportunity offers; either ic a gere al line, or by alternate bat alions, or esch lon. and take post (under cover if possible) as a reserve, either in rear of the centre or, what of the advancing line. 4. If there appear 1 ttle chance of the enemy's position being carried by a front attick, then it will be advisable, instead of passing the line over the skirmishers, to try and gain bis flank by pushing the half buttalion columns in succession round the outer flank of the skirmish line These half bat formation laid down for a single battalion attacking alone.* If more than two batline and envelop the enemy's flank, one should follow in second line as a reserve. When a flank attack of this kind is being atcentre of the original line, care must be taken to bring up a battalion or so from the reserve to the rear of the weakened part, to meet the contingency of a counter attack

5. It will generally be found that a combination of the two prec ding forms of attack will be the most effective. In this

7. Considerable use may often be made of or irregularities of ground A sudden rush from a small body of horse on a line of skirmishers will force them at once to run into rallying square, and when in that formation they present themselves as targets to the shot of their opponents. The cavalry must, however, be careful to fall back the moment their charge has produced its intended effect by forcing the enemy into square. 8. In conducting an attack much will depend upon the readiness shown by the majors in command of half battalions to adapt their movements to the exigencies of the moment They must clearly understand that it is their duty to profit by any opening which may oc-

SUNDERLAND, Nov. 25, 1872. DURHAM. EDITOR STANDARD : The city of Durham is famed for its cathedral, its college, and sev- can opinion on the Greeley candidature to eral other things, including old maids and two cases: Firstly, there was the influence nustard. Everything in Durbam has an an. of British ridicule, Greeley's nomin tiquated appearance, as if contemporaneous with the date of the cathedral's construction, many centuries ago. But the magnificent architecture of the sacred edifice does not seem to have inspired any of the ancient house builders with a corresponding scientific taste, for the streets and houses in its neighborhood look as if they had been "thrown together" in a burry. Nevertheless, Dur-ham and its surroundings furnish a fair contradiction to the philosophical wiseacre of Pagan times—was it Plato?—who argued that regularity was the foundation of beauty, make large fortunes, and if they are minisfor a more beautiful scene, when witnesse ters they enjoy pleasant society without risk or trouble, for America has no "foreign" relafrom the Western Hill, is seldom met with. Durham, for a long period, was a sort of Rome to the north of England. Its prince tions. Why should a man be branded as Cain or as Judas for months in order that he Co, extending over an acre and a half of ground, on the morning of New Year's day at a filled site, its princely revenues, its learning, its cathedral, and so forth, when the profitable and pleasant alternatives are open thirty male residents, as aforesaid, shall into thirty male residents in a state Legislator when such ing, its cathedral, and so forth, when the large towns of the North were coaling villages, gave it a pre-eminence which in mounsinous similitude might be compared to your neighboring Mount Baker.

A MILITARY SETTLEMENT.

Will go far to make it, if not a supercessor,
A great proportion of the land in the North at least a formidable rival of the coal gas here is held by leases from the Bishop of Durham. Before the union of England and tland, the country was rather a hot place for quiet people, and the land was granted by renewable leases to chivalrous individuals on indition that they would turn out against he Scots as occasion required. The cond ion became unnecessary after the union, but the leases said nothing about the union, and have, notwithstanding, been renewed as before. But interminable leases are interminabls nuisances, it appears, for their nature n this case is an obstacle to what you call "improvements," and a suit is now pending between the Ecclesiastcal Commissioners and he leaseholders, the object of which is to place the land under a clearer tenure.

est the hirings, the Original Durham Mustard ities, and unless some unforseen danger be Manufactory, and a wedding party. I had never seen the birings before and therefore thought myself in luck on Saturday last. The hirings is an assemblage of people in the narket place-of those who want to hire and of those who want to be bired. The men and women who are chiefly, if not altogether, of te agricultural class, stand in the market-place, gossipping and chaffling, and waiting for "masters" to hire them for the next term On learning that the hirings were to be held, my thoughts took a retrospective turn to New Orleans and 1854 where and when I first saw It also points out what is to be considered a slave merchant, but on glancing at the hirthe normal distance of loose (or open) files, ings I did not perceive the smallest resemblance. Here everything was "jolly," and somewhat "green" too for those who wanted new "master," held or wore something o that color in token of their desire. The newspapers have been discussing the propriety of bolishing hirings, in their present slave-man ket-like form, as inimical to our present ideas of civilization, but the truth is those most interested enjoy them as a holiday treat The lands like to meet the lasses, and vice versa, and old acquaintances living at considerable distances meet and renew their friend ships, and so forth. In this way the social advantages of the hirings are numerous, while the disadvantages are only such as will occur in any well-regulated family.

AGRICULTURAL LABORERS, We have had a good deal 'of writing "n speaking lately about "Hodge" and his family, but I assure you there was nothing about the appearance of the folks at the Durlaborer which Punch with less judgement than humanity delights to caricatue. They were ill comfortably dressed-remarkably so for tented as any sylvan poet could desire. The wages of agricultural laborers in the North will usually be better, behind the outer flank there is nothing of the wretchedness which excited far more attention than the Alabama n other parts of England disgraces the haracter of the nation. THE WEDDING PARTY.

Two gaily dressed couples "got aboard the cars" at Pensher, and, as it transpired, for the purpose of spending the day at Durham The bridegroom and best man were evidently talion columns may, if necessary, adopt the pit laddies. I met them in Durham followed three inebriates, arm in-arm, and a half d zen seedy-looking fellows, who were imtalions are in this way used to prolong the portuning them for coppers. As begging is robibited by law I was curious to know wheher the "bobbies" would interfere, but I afterwards learned that begging for coppers tempted, which must always w aken the to drink the health of the bride and bride room is an ancient custom in Durham. hope it is more honored in the breach than in the observance. But it is time to leave Durham and its glories, to local enthus asts and I will now pass on to matters of a more general nature, commencing with GAS AT SEA. We have gas in our streets, gas in our the Adriatic. Henceforward the "line" will probably be dubbed the Gas-light Line. At tempts at marine gas-lighting have been previously made, but without success, the motion of the vessel interfering with the sta-bility of the light. Now, however, the gas has so thoroughly accommodated itself to "a life on the ocean wave ' that the pitching and rolling of the vessel rather increase than diminish its brilliancy and lighting power f Neptune is at all sensitive on the subject another than a Bismarkian sense. Each of us still alive and anxious to be set free. for the construction of four six-pound rifles can be extracted from the blood of forty-two full grown men. Extending the calculation yielded enough iron for the casting of 9,524 cissors or a corkscrew.

UNSINKABLE SHIPS.

We are promised a novelty in war ship-Passed UP.—The Wright, bound from Port-with open files, that is with two paces be-elastic preparation between two thicknesses of wood in the sides of the vessel. When the ship goes into action and the enemy's shot pierce the sides, holes will, as a matter of course be made in her hull, but these will be That Portfolio.—As there is considerable discussion going on at present about the creating of new portfolios, the undersigned is prepared to make them in any quantity. The re-election of Gen. Grant caused neither surprise nor disappointment here, it having been for some time considered a foregone conclusion. On this subject I heard an American gestleman make some interesting remarks. He attributed the turn in Ameriwas from the first laughed at here, and it ap pears to be a fact that British newspapers have circulated largely in the United States since the Geneva Arbitration commenced. The press of this country have been of one touching the Greeley candidature. Secondly he said, the dearth of high-class politicians in the the States is becoming an evil of the first magnitude. Mr. Greeley was selected because there was no other person to select. The best American minds devote themselves to business or diplomacy. Often they follow the first with the second.
